CHAPTER XIX.

On their arrival at home that morning the two girls separated in the hall, Lydia going up to her room with a grave look on her face, and Miss Cosby turning into the parlor to take off her wraps. Mrs. Cranston joined her immediately.

"I was in the summer house and saw you coming," she said eagerly. "I thought I'd give Lydia a chance to go upstairs, for I am crazy to hear what you have to say. Well, did you meet the paragon?"

Miss Cosby rubbed her kid glove down from her wrist toward the tips of her slender fingers. "Meet him?—by a large majority, I assure you. We walked right into his den. Your scheme worked, Mrs. Cranston. As soon as we missed the major uptown I told Lydia that you said he might be down at the grain warehouse, and she ordered the carriage there. I have one thing to ask you, Mrs. Cranston—Kitty was smiling—"what are the rates of board in this town?"

"Rates of board?" exclaimed Mrs. Cranston. "What on earth do you want to know that for?"

"I'm going to pay my board while I'm with you," said the girl, with mock seriousness. "I know you invited me down here to help you out of your mess, and I have washed my hands of the whole business. I'm out of it from now on—out. Do you understand?"

"Oh, Kitty, do be serious—don't be silly."

"I'm out of it, I tell you," persisted the girl, pulling at the other glove. "I won't work for anybody that don't tote fair. Why didn't you tell me this Buckley was a regular Apollo in a business suit? Why, I never felt in my life as I did with him. I may be romantic, cracked, soft or something, but I simply stood and stared at him, unable to say a thing that was sensible. Besides, we were all upset—excited to death, and—"

"Excited!" gasped Mrs. Cranston. "Why, what about?"

"Oh, about that White Cap affair down there last night. You never heard half of it. The major hinted that it was only some drunken mountain rowdies, personal friends of Mr. Buckley's, when it was—oh, only a little thing like a great, tall god of a man standing in a door daring a mob of fifty strong to pass in after the man they were pursuing! The man in the door with the revolver and the blazing eyes—was George Buckley, and the little, dried up man he was offering his life for was no relation to him and a man he could not be congenial with."

"Kitty, you surprise me," said Mrs. Cranston.

"You'll be more than surprised before this thing is over with, if I'm any judge of human nature," Kitty laughed. "Why, Mrs. Cranston, you are battling with Niagara falls in a dugout when you are trying to keep two people like Lydia and that young man from admiring each other, especially Lydia or any real woman." She then proceeded to describe minutely all that had taken place in the office. At times her voice would clog and her eyes fill to overflowing. "And the beauty of it was," she ended, "that the hero of it all was mad enough to kick the people who were sobbing out his praises."

"Lydia heard all that!" said Mrs. Cranston.

"Yes, she heard it all. You have always thought she was proud and haughty and cold. Huh! She melted all over and ran out at the eyes. She doesn't know she's in love with him. She doesn't comprehend it any more than a baby comprehends life. He followed us outside to apologize—just think of that—apologize! He tried to laugh it off. I introduced myself. I had to. Lydia was acting as if she were in a dream. She was asking questions about the exact spot where he had stood, as reverently, Mrs. Cranston, as a girl looking for the grave of a soldier lover. Then the father of the rescued boy came out and went all over it again. I've been to plays that moved me, but always, away down in my heart, lay the knowledge that it was only acting, but that this morning was the real thing. They say all the world loves a lover. I was asked to thwart that pair, but when I saw those two together—he with his great, hungry, dreamy eyes that seemed full of eternal suffering with love for her actually burning in their depths, and she with her sweet, wondering face—I felt like an egg sucking dog! I wanted to put out my hands and draw their heads together. Love is beautiful always. It was like a glimpse of heaven this morning. I always considered Lydia a strong woman. I admire her more now than ever. All along she has seen what there is in this man and been trying to give him simple justice."

Mrs. Cranston groaned aloud and sat down, covering her face with her hands. "I reckon we'll have to send her off," she said.

"Send her off? Where to? Send her to Mars, and she'll still see his eyes and hear his voice—and know she has wronged him for something he can't help. Think of that! You know, after all, he can't help what his father did. Huh! If a man like that adored me as he does Lydia I'd do it if fifteen powdered and perfumed princes stood with their arms stretched out to me, and—yes, if he had fathers looking out of jail windows on every street corner in proud old Richmond. Oh, I've thrown up my job! I'm not the man for it. The weight of a hair would make me work on the other side. You'd better send me away. My own heart is hopelessly in danger."

"I have never met the real thing in man form before. Think of it! There's Charles Mason, at home, who will talk to a girl by the hour about how he was obliged to call Delaney out for insulting Richmond girls, and if Delaney hadn't humbly apologized shots might have been exchanged, with the accent on the might! That's the fashionable, bouquet courage. The real thing is where a man acts like this Buckley did last night and then gets as mad as the dev—as mad as the very dickens when it is mentioned in his presence. Mrs. Cranston, I believe you have been trying to keep God from doing a beautiful piece of work so that you can do an ugly one—hideous except to the sight of narrow, squint-eyed people. I may be getting crooked mentally for not espousing the governor's cause, but after what I've seen this morning, after seeing that couple together and reading their throbbing hearts, I can see it only one way."

"The son of a convict!" groaned Mrs. Cranston. "Never, never! Lydia will not do it. She respects our feelings too much. You say she doesn't yet realize that she's in love with him?"

"Not yet, but she's a light sleeper. Mrs. Cranston. Somebody will throw cold water in her face, and she'll open her eyes. I fancy if you and the major were to begin to urge her marriage to Governor Telfaire that she'd rub her eyes and wonder if she had a nightmare. She wouldn't talk driving home. I took her hand. It was as cold as ice, but her face was on fire. I had spent the whole morning sneering at everything we came to—the little law offices and stores and the clerks coming to wait on us without their coats—and as we approached the warehouse I laughed at its dingy appearance and told her I didn't see how she could stand to live in such a town. On the way home she looked up at me and said: 'You may as well quit running Darley down, Kitty. I have found more real worth and nobility of character here than in any city I ever visited.' There you are, Mrs. Cranston! The first thing a woman begins to do in falling in love is to justify her choice, and your daughter can justify hers like a judge on the bench."

"There is one thing that will make her hesitate," said Mrs. Cranston, looking up with a steady stare. "Her father's heart is set on her marrying Governor Telfaire, and the major's health is failing. I really believe if she should not obey his wishes—if she were to do such a dastardly thing as to marry this Buckley, it would kill him."

"I can see it only one way."

"That situation may influence her," admitted the Virginia girl. "A woman will often marry a man she doesn't love to gratify those she does. But if Lydia does marry Governor Telfaire, she'll carry an ideal of another man into his home and down to her grave, even if she lives to give her husband grandchildren. But, oh, Mrs. Cranston, I wish it could be otherwise. I wish, with all my heart, that I could walk down this minute and call that man out and tell him I'd come to give Lydia to him, to have and to hold forever. And when the divine fire blazed up in his manly face I'd like to kiss him and assure him I was not a spy working against him, but his friend. The dear fellow thought he had made himself ridiculous before us this morning, when he had simply tangled himself up in our heartstrings and left them bleeding in his favor."

"Don't, don't!" Mrs. Cranston rose and stood frowning. "I see I can't count on you, Kitty; but, at least, you will not—no—you know what I mean?"

"No, I shall have nothing to do with it either way," said Kitty, with a smile. "I can promise you that—at least, I think I can."

No Choice Yet.

St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 20.—The Fourth district Democratic congressional convention adjourned at 11 o'clock last night without finding a solution of the deadlock. There have been taken 975 ballots and on the last ballot last night the figures stood the same as on the first ballot when the convention assembled, almost a month ago.

Wife Murder and Suicide.

Sullivan, Ind., Aug. 20.—Brinton Creager last night shot and instantly killed his wife and then committed suicide. The double tragedy occurred in the public square during a band concert. Domestic trouble is said to have caused a separation, and the wife's refusal to return home is believed to have led to the shooting.

Chemist's Shocking Death.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—George L. English, an amateur chemist, while endeavoring to make a photographic flashlight powder, brought about an explosion that fatally injured him, severely hurt his wife, and destroyed his residence which he had lately erected at a cost of $12,000.

A DEADLY CYCLONE

North St. Louis Caught In the Grasp of an Aerial Twister.

IT CUT A WIDE SWATH

Two Lives Were Lost and Probably Fifty Persons Were Injured In Tornado's Course.

After Playing Havoc on the Missouri Side the Cyclone Leaped Across the River.

St. Louis, Aug. 20.—A tornado of small proportions but of extreme fury swept down upon the residence portion of North St. Louis, resulting in the death of one person, injury to probably fifty and damage to property estimated at $100,000.

John Ellington was the only person killed, though among those injured there are several whose hurts may terminate fatally.

A shower passed over St. Louis earlier in the day, but there had been no rain in North St. Louis. The sky had cleared and the atmosphere had become very murky and hot when citizens noticed a dark cloud approaching from the southwest. Suddenly, and without the slightest premonition, an arm seemed to shoot to the ground like a gigantic cable, twisting and turning. The end touched the ground at Nineteenth and Angelrod streets, and with incredible swiftness and force, swept east along Angelrod for ten blocks, then turned north and swept along Broadway, when it jumped eight blocks northeast to the foot of Bremen street and the river, where considerable property along the river front was destroyed. The tornado then jumped to about the middle of the river and encountered a ferryboat, which was turned and tossed about, but was not sunk. Leaving the ferry, the capricious tornado once more jumped and struck the Illinois shore near Madison, where it demolished several dwellings, the Leidenkrantz hall and blew down a portion of the Madison cooper works, killing John Ellington. Severe damage was done also to buildings in Venice and Granite City, which adjoin Madison, and a number of persons were injured.

So quickly did the tornado sweep through North St. Louis that the citizens could scarcely comprehend what had happened, and in the stillness that followed the wind, cries were heard on all sides as terror-stricken persons ran about the streets. Not a telephone, telephone or trolley pole was left standing along the streets swept by the twister, and trees were piled in heaps. The width of the tornado was about a block and a half, and houses were unroofed, window panes were generally demolished, several large manufactories partially demolished, and the streets littered high with debris.

A Broadway trolley car containing eleven passengers was suddenly buried under six telegraph poles which crashed into the top and wrecked the car. The passengers had a remarkable escape from injury and only the motor-man received slight bruises. Probably the heaviest loss suffered by a single concern which the destruction accomplished was at the Neidringhaus rolling mill. The plant covers two squares in extent. The big smokestack was blown down and half the plant was demolished, entailing estimated damage of $25,000. Six employees were injured in this plant.

A calm settled over the city immediately following the storm and no rain fell. Ambulances were rushed to the scene and fire departments responded from all directions. The storm was seen from St. Louis proper and ambulances and firemen were speeding on their way long before messages asking assistance were delivered by messengers. In St. Louis proper at the time there was not the slightest intimation of a windstorm. The sky had darkened and a brisk breeze blew for a short time as if heralding the approach of a summer shower, and the intelligence that North St. Louis had been invaded by a destructive tornado was received with great surprise. Not the slightest damage was done at the World's Fair grounds. The exposition is situated over five miles from the seat of the tornado and the wind was not felt there.

Swept Across the River.

Venice, Ill., Aug. 20.—The tornado that swept across the river from North St. Louis late yesterday killed one person here, injured ten others and caused considerable damage to property. The tornado was of short duration but was remarkably destructive in force. Mrs. Margeret C. Beal was killed by the falling debris of her home, which was blown to pieces.

Fatal Cloudburst in Arizona.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 20.—A cloudburst at Globe, Ariz., resulted in seven deaths and the destruction of much property.

No Cause for the Act Given.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 20.—William Montgomery, vice president and general manager of the Georgia Cotton Mill company, shot and killed himself at his office here last evening. No cause for the act has been given.

ASUNCION ISOLATED

Insurgents Have Surrounded the Capital of Paraguay.

Buenos Ayres, Aug. 20.—The insurgents have seized another steamer, which had on board the minister of war and a small escort. The minister and his companions were made prisoners. The vessel was towing four lighters loaded with 190 bullocks for the garrison. These were confiscated. At the conference on board one of the insurgent vessels after the bombardment of Asuncion last Wednesday, between the ministers of Argentina, Brazil, Italy and France, and the insurgent leaders, the latter said that after the ministers left the vessel they would fire two more shots, one at the residence of President Escarra and the other at the church concealing the battery, in order to demonstrate the excellence of their artillery. The shots were fired and both the president's residence and the church were hit. No further bombardment has been reported. The insurgent commander with 2,000 land forces is approaching Asuncion. One of the insurgent steamers has sailed for the Villa Hayes, north of the capital. The Villa Hayes is now the only point which can be communicated with. Asuncion is completely isolated. The ministers of foreign nations have offered intervention to which the insurgents replied they would permit President Escarra to continue in office, but would demand the resignation of the ministers and other high officials of the government. The insurgents' terms were conveyed to the government officials and promptly declined. The insurgents then sent an ultimatum demanding the surrender of the capital within twenty-four hours, saying that should this demand be not granted the bombardment of Asuncion would be resumed.

MUST OBEY THE LAW

Chicago Packers Reminded of Violation of City Ordinance.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—Corporation Counsel Tolman has given to Mayor Harrison an opinion declaring the packers at the stockyards have no legal right to house men in their pack-houses. The opinion was given in response to the request of the mayor, who was informed by the Chicago Federation of Labor that the packers were boarding men contrary to law.

The opinion of Corporation Counsel Tolman declares that the packers are not violating any provision of the ordinance regulating lodging houses, for the reason that they are not letting lodgings for hire. The opinion does hold, however, that the regulations calling for fire-escapes and exits in buildings where large numbers of people are housed, have not been complied with, and suggests that the packers be given a period of three days to commence the alterations in their buildings, or to find new quarters for the men.

The mayor after receiving the opinion sent it to Chief of Police O'Neill with instructions to see that the packers obeyed the law.

Golden Not Guilty.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—George F. Golden, the head of the striking packinghouse teamsters, was found not guilty of disorderly conduct by a jury in the court of Justice Quinn. Police Inspector Hunt preferred charges against Golden for ordering a teamster who was hauling a load of meat to take it back to the place where he procured it. The point of the case was whether or not Golden had threatened the teamster in giving his order, and the jury, after being out for an hour and ten minutes, decided that Golden was not guilty.

Fish Dying by Tons.

Albert Lea, Minn., Aug. 28.—There is consternation over the death of fish in the lakes about here, and no one can explain the cause. Large pickerel, bullheads, suckers, perch and all kinds are dying. They seem to suffocate, although there is a dead stage of water. Tons of fish are dead along the shores and must be hauled away and buried.

Seventeen-Weeks' Strike Settled.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 20.—Through the intervention of the Central Labor Union the tinners' strike was settled yesterday afternoon, after the men had been out seventeen weeks. The strikers win, getting increased wages and the abolishment of the open shop. All strikers will return to work.

TO THE BITTER END

Port Arthur Fleet Is Under Instructions to Die Fighting.

FINAL STRUGGLE NEAR

When the Fortress Falls the Fleet Will Make One More Desperate Sortie.

If This Be Impracticable Then Its Men Must Compass Its Destruction.

Tokio, Aug. 20.—According to a report from the watch tower near Port Arthur a Russian gunboat of the Otavai type struck a mine and sank off Liaoti promontory at 7:52 p. m., yesterday.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 20.—Acute anxiety prevails regarding the situation at Port Arthur on account of the desperate character of the fighting reported as taking place, though the war office does not seem to believe that danger of the fall of the fortress is so imminent as is generally asserted. According to reports received by the war office, there is still an ample supply of ammunition and provisions there, and while it is true that the Japanese probably outnumber the defenders six or seven fold, the great strength of the fortifications, it is believed, will do much to make up for the disparity of numbers.

Upon one point there is absolute unanimity here—namely, that if the fortress falls the fleet will not fall into the hands of the Japanese. On this point the admiralty's instructions are of the most imperative character. Vice Admiral Prince Oukotsky has been ordered, should the worst come, to sail forth for a desperate struggle, and there is no question here that these instructions will be carried out both in letter and in spirit, but if for any reason a final sortie proves to be impossible the admiralty is to destroy his ships and to make certain that their wreckage shall be absolutely irreparable.

In the meantime Vice Admiral Rojdestvensky's Baltic squadron, including the battleship Orel, is standing off Cronstadt with steam up. It is popularly expected that the squadron will sail at any hour, and it is quite true that it is ready for almost immediate departure, but regarding the question of sailing there is a difference of opinion among the naval authorities. It is held on the one hand that the immediate sailing of the squadron would be the best policy on the theory that should it arrive within two months it would find Vice Admiral Togo's fleet in an infinitely worse condition than if the Japanese were allowed the whole winter to repair and refit the ships.

The advocates of an immediate sailing hold that the port of Vladivostok is capable of receiving the squadron, even should entrance to Port Arthur prove to be impracticable and they wish to treat the Port Arthur squadron for the present as a negligible quantity, letting the Baltic sea vessels meet the Japanese in the present weakened condition, without relying for any certain assistance either on Vice Admiral Oukotsky or Vice Admiral Skrydloff.

Other officials hold that it would be unwise to risk sending the Baltic squadron to the far East until the situation at Port Arthur has been cleared and until it is known what conditions the squadron would be likely to find on its arrival.

MUST LEAVE OR DISARM

Shanghai Wants No Bone of Contention in Its Harbor.

Shanghai, Aug. 20.—Despite the taotai's decision to allow the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi and the cruiser Askold to remain in port for what would be considered a reasonable length of time to make repairs, the Japanese consul general has made three demands that the vessels either leave port or disarm. The ships are carefully guarded by custom officials and lighters are waiting to coal the Askold. Semi-official reports say that the Japanese fleet will make a demonstration outside the harbor on Tuesday. The neutral consuls believe the Japanese threat to seize the vessels is a bluff. A pacific end of the controversy is anticipated. The damage to the Askold is greater than expected and cannot be repaired under three weeks.

Town in Danger of Destruction.

Greensboro, Ind., Aug. 20.—Fire destroyed two houses and a barn in the main street of the town, with a loss of $3,500. There was no fire protection except a bucket brigade, and the town narrowly escaped serious loss.

Havana, Aug. 20.—The supreme court has confirmed the death sentence imposed on three negroes convicted of highway robbery and murder at Guara. They will be garrotted.

MEN OF PROMINENCE

[Use Pe-ru-na for Catarrh.]

Pe-ru-na Cures Catarrh Wherever Located.

F. Y. FITZPATRICK, M. C.

Hon. F. Y. Fitzpatrick, Congressman from Kentucky, writes from the National Hotel, Washington, D. C., as follows: "At the solicitation of a friend I used your Peruna and can cheerfully recommend your remedy to anyone suffering with catarrh or who needs a good tonic."

—F. Y. Fitzpatrick.

Peruna is the remedy for catarrh. Almost everybody knows that by heresy and thousands know it by experience. What can be cured in the beginning in a week or two by using Peruna, if allowed to become chronic, may require months of faithful treatment. You had better take Peruna now for by and by you may be obliged to take it for some time in order to get well. Now the warm, dry weather will assist in your cure. You are not liable to catch fresh cold and delay your cure.

Hundreds of men of dignity and prominence from all over the United States endorse Peruna.

No other remedy receives such convincing testimonials. Send for free book of testimonials.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

SOLDIERS IN BATTLE

Ohio National Guardsmen and Regulars in Deadly Clash.

Athens, Ohio, Aug. 20.—Regular army soldiers, said to be members of a cavalry troop connected with the First brigade at Camp Armitage near this city, last night attacked members of a provost guard of patrols made up of members of Company D, Fifth Ohio national guard, Cleveland, and one man was killed and three wounded, the latter all being national guardsmen. The regulars escaped without any casualties as far as known. The guardsman who was killed was Corporal Charles Clark, whose home is at Warren, where the company is located. He was twenty-one years old and a machinist by occupation.

The regulars, who used pistols, scattered for camp and none of them have been apprehended. Fifteen minutes after the shooting General Dick, in command of the national guardsmen, and the regular army officers, had declared the town under martial law, and hundreds of regulars were rushed into the city and are now patrolling the streets to prevent further trouble. It seems that nearly all the provost guards sent to town to gather in soldiers who have overstayed their leaves, have been guardsmen, and the regulars became possessed of the idea that the provosts were discriminating against the regulars in favor of the guardsmen, arresting the former and allowing the latter to go scot free when the miscreants were in such numbers that a choice arose of arresting either one or the other. Regulars assembled in Athens last night in force and the provost from Troop D met a number of them in front of the sheriff's residence, near the courthouse. The regulars were halted and showed fight. The provost guards clubbed their rifles, then, they claim, the regulars commenced to shoot. They returned the fire and more than a hundred shots in all were fired. The battle ended when the regulars scampered for camp after the killing.

War Bulletins.

TOKYO, Aug. 20.—The Japanese yesterday occupied Ans-Chan-Chan. The Russian forces in the town retreated toward Mukden.
Ans-Chan-Chan is to the southwest of L'ao Yang, about half way between that place and Hai Cheng. The town is naturally adapted for defense, and it is quite probable there was a fight there before the Japanese entered the fortress.

CHEFU, Aug. 20.—A rumor is current from a Russian source that Admiral Togo's flagship has been sunk. There is no confirmation.

The final assault on Port Arthur is believed to be in progress. Heavy firing of big guns continued all day and during much of the night. A general assault is expected today. Both sides are said to have suffered heavy losses.

EUGENE A. PHILBIN, a former democratic district attorney of New York, has renounced the democratic party and comes out for Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

WILLIAM PATTERSON, an Indianapolis lawyer and a follower of Bryan for eight years, declines to support Parker and Davis. He refuses to be delivered into the hands of the Wall street speculators.

EUGENE DEBBS pays his respects to Henry G. Davis, the democratic nominee for vice president, and in behalf of organized labor says that "organized labor has no more uncompromising enemy than Henry G. Davis, who charges union labor with being a criminal conspiracy and does not permit his employees to belong to a trades union."

JOHN A. McCALL, president of the New York Life Insurance Company, is going to vote for Roosevelt and Fairbanks. Mr. McCall is a democrat. His brother is Justice McCall, of the supreme court, elected on the Tammany ticket a year ago. Mr. McCall has been a lifelong friend of Judge Parker, but not only is he going to vote the republican ticket but he is working effectively for its success.

MAJOR JOHN BYRNE, president of the Democratic Honest Money League, 1896 and 1900, which had branches in nineteen states and was instrumental in influencing a number of gold democrats to vote for President McKinley, has announced himself in favor of the election of President Roosevelt. He says the only party that is right on the money question is the republican party. He says that the democratic party threw away its opportunity at St. Louis when it surrendered to Tillman and his crowd. The evasiveness of Judge Parker now and his support of the 16 to 1 theory in 1896 and 1900 do not commend him to the sincere believers in and advocates of sound money.

RAILROAD RUMBLINGS.

The B. & O. S-W. pay checks came in last night and were distributed today.

H. C. Scott, a B. & O. bridge man, was here from Mitchell this morning.

William Hartman, who has served for some time as division freight clerk in the office of R. S. McVeigh, at Vincennes, has been appointed traveling freight agent for the Indiana and Illinois divisions of the B. & O. S-W.

Miss Louise Rothweiler, general secretary of the German branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, who will speak at the German M. E. church tomorrow, will be the guest of Mrs. Lizzie Strodtman over Sunday.

INSTITUTE CLOSED.

Teachers Had Profitable Week of Instruction.

The annual county teachers institute closed Friday afternoon after five days of beneficial instruction. The institute this year was up to the average, the work of Mr. W. W. Black being especially commended. The professional uplift that the teachers get from these annual meetings is worth a great deal to the schools. By meeting together and listening to the instructors they gain in enthusiasm and in professional spirit that makes them think more of their work and the importance of preparing well for it. The institutes pay and the teachers who do not attend will have to give way in time to those who appreciate and attend such meetings.

Superintendent Payne is commended by the teachers for his successful management of this institute and for his activity in behalf of the schools throughout the year.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

A Long Headed Dog

Rover had been disturbed long enough. His sleep had been broken constantly for nights by the endless dispute of two big toms that nightly sat upon the wall of his yard and fought it out till morning. He determined the thing should cease.

"I should think you two would get tired of standing with your backs hitched up like a croquet wicket all night long," he said.

"We do," said the cats, "but don't see how we can well help it. This thing of right of way on that fence has got to be settled somehow."

"It must be fought out," said Nibs.

"Of course it must," replied Nobs.

"But that means that we must get our backs up," they said in one breath.

"All right," said Rover. "If it must be, let me give you a fine scheme for holding them up. There are two iron spikes with round knobs on them just over here on this side of the yard. You both jump on these, let your feet hang down on either side, and the iron will hold your backs up."

"Clever! Clever!" said they both.

"But when they went to get down neither could move. They couldn't lift up nor move to the side, for the wall was too narrow. Rover had them."

"Help! Help!" they cried.

"On one condition," said Rover.

"We grant it!"

"That you stop this nightly row."

"Agreed!" they said. And Rover called the maid, who removed them—Atlanta Constitution.

WEATHER AT WORLD'S FAIR.

Cool Nights and Delightful Indian Summer to Be Expected at St. Louis.

Usually the warmest month of the year, July proved to be one of the most pleasant of the World's Fair season, the average temperature being 67 degrees, a record lower than that made by either Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati or Chicago. The weather bureau records show that the temperatures in St. Louis during July were just between the extremes recorded at New Orleans and St. Paul, cities located at great variance.

August in St. Louis is a month of cool nights, and September and October are the most delightful months of the year. It is that period known as Indian summer, when the foliage and birds linger to challenge the coming winter. Nowhere on the American continent is there a spot more delightful than the World's Fair city, a garden of blooming flowers and spraying fountains.

St. Louis, like all cities, experienced several hot days during July, but her highest temperature recorded was 93 degrees against 94 degrees registered by the thermometer at Chicago. On the same day the mercury rose to 96 degrees in Philadelphia, and scores of heat prostrations were reported from New York and Boston.

The relative humidity shows St. Louis to be about normal. Assuming absolutely no moisture in the atmosphere to be zero and absolute wetness to be 100, the relative humidities for July, taken from the records of more than twenty years, Boston shows 70.6, New York 72.2, Philadelphia 68.6, Cincinnati 64.6, Chicago 66.9 and St. Louis 60.3. The same degree of heat in two places, with different degrees of humidity, would cause it to seem the hotter at the point of greater density.

St. Louis may therefore rightly claim to be a summer resort this summer, positively one of the most comfortable and delightful places on the map.

Taken with Cramps.

Wm. Kirmen, a member of the bridge gang working near Littleport was taken suddenly ill Thursday night with cramps and a kind of cholera. His case was so severe that he had to have the members of the crew wait upon him and Mr. Gifford was called and consulted. He told them he had a medicine in the form of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy that he thought would help him out and accordingly several doses were administered with the result that the fellow was able to be around next day. The incident speaks quite highly of Mr. Gifford's medicines.—Elkader, Iowa, Argus.

ADMISSION OF WEAKNESS

Indiana Democratic Leaders Recognize Their Sore Plight.

Indianapolis, Aug. 20.—The frantic efforts being made by the Democratic leaders in this state to secure the promise of Judge Parker that he will come to Indiana during the campaign is regarded by the Republican managers here as good evidence that their opponents are far from satisfied with the situation in the state and that the men who are besieging Parker so hard appreciate the trouble which is in store for them before the great political battle of 1904 is over. If the Democratic leaders had any idea that they really would carry the state, it is argued, they would not be making such desperate efforts to bring Parker so far away from home that he might say a few words to men who were already stirred up to the point of electing him. The plan to bring Parker here is regarded as one of the by-plays of Chairman Taggart. Taggart, it is supposed, understands that Indiana must go Democratic if human efforts can save it, that he may justify his own selection as national chairman. The chairman himself is supposed to be back of the endeavor to get Parker out to Indiana. It is a part of the scheme of the Democrats to spare no efforts to make a good showing in the state. To the Republican managers all the efforts of the leaders who have visited Esopus on the mission to extract the unwilling promise from Parker are but an admission of their weakness in the state, and they care little what Parker's answer to the "unfettered Democracy" may be.

Indianapolis is still suffering from the depredations of burglars, and the fact that the extra efforts being made to apprehend the criminals have met with little success, has led to the conclusion that a gang of skilled crooks is to blame for the outrages against the law. The police department has been worked overtime for months in the attempt to put an end to the housebreaking. The men who are on day watch have been called on to patrol exposed sections at night as well, and have been sent out in citizens' clothes in the hope that they can drop onto some of the evildoers. Several thieves have been captured and they have been sent to serve jail or workhouse sentences, but notwithstanding the arrests there is hardly a night but that the robbers have entered several houses. From four to eight robberies have been reported nearly every night. Most of the hauls have been small, and it is supposed this accounts for the activity of the burglars, as they evidently intend to continue their work until they have amassed enough to make it pay them to move to another locality.

A case new in the criminal history of this city was tried in police court yesterday. Citizens living near a carpet cleaning "factory" caused the arrest of John Norris for making so much dust that life in the neighborhood became a burden. A pneumatic device for cleaning carpets was used by Norris, and in drawing the dirt and dust out of the rugs and carpets brought there to be cleaned, layers of the dirt collected in the old building used for the purpose. The firm decided to move and Norris was called on to clean out. He opened the windows and turned on the air, with the result that dirt was blown out of the apartments with disastrous results to the neighbors. They claimed their houses were covered with dirt and that the dust entered their homes and ruined their goods. Norris was arrested for maintaining a nuisance. In court he showed that he was only the employee of the company and not responsible, and Judge Whallon discharged him.

THE STATE OF TRADE

Review of the Week as Presented by Bradstreet's.

New York, Aug. 20.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade today says: Conservatism rules the buying movement, which, while gaining in force at some leading markets, still lacks the snap shown in former years at this time. The lateness of the crop season for one thing, reports of wheat and cotton crop deterioration, fortified by continued wheat price advances, and revisions of quotations, notable in iron and steel and cotton goods, breeds a feeling of indecision. Reports from the great industries show little change during the week.

Crop Conditions Now More Hopeful.

Since the very early morn of Friday up to one o'clock, this afternoon, 1.10 inches of rain have fallen here. As there is evidently much more "in sight," the drouthy situation which has prevailed here since August 1st, will probably be well relieved. The crop damage—very greatly overestimated—will with later favorable conditions be in very great part recovered. On a conservative estimate the injury to growing corn in this neighborhood will not exceed 20 per cent.

Altogether, the weather conditions recently prevailing, although very dry, have not been unusual for the season. In the 30 days preceding this August 19th, rain has fallen four times—July 22nd, 0.05; 27th, 0.10; 28th, 0.20; and August 1st, 0.25, in all 0.60 of an inch; or sixty tons of rainwater to each acre of land! These estimates admit of no misunderstanding, as they are made from official daily readings of a standard, automatic, government rain gauge. JOHN AULEFORSYTHE, Observer Weather Bureau.

DIED.

COLE.—Warren H. son of Con. G. and Belle Cole, was born in Seymour, September 22nd, 1878. He died [at Bellingham, Washington, August 15th, 1904, very unexpectedly of heart disease after a sickness of typhoid fever. Warren Cole is well remembered here by many, as a manly boy, who endeared himself to all his associates, old and young, by his genial earnest ways. Last February he married a Miss Hall, of his home city, where he was engaged in business and prospering. His mother and a little niece, daughter of the late Marion Cole-Romaine, are living; but his death leaves his uncle, Cyril B., of ours, the only survivor of his Cole family. The bereaved ones have the heartiest condolence of their many Seymour friends.

WEEKLY.—Bazil Weekly, aged about eighty years, died at his home near Spraytown, last Thursday. Funeral conducted by Rev. Smith, of Fraetown. Burial at Taylor's Chapel. He leaves a wife and four children. Mr. Weekly was a well known and highly esteemed citizen.

BROWN.—Samuel Brown, an aged citizen residing near Beck, died Aug. 17. Leaves a wife and four children. He had many friends in this county.

COLLIER.—The little son, five months old, of Jefferson Collier and wife, of Hamilton township, died Thursday of cholera infantum. Burial at Acme the same day.

LEMASTER.—Almon, the nineteen months old son of Joseph Lemaster and wife, died at the family residence at Cortland, Friday evening of dysentery. Burial at Acme cemetery Saturday afternoon.

SWEANEY.—Jefferson Sweeney, a brother of Mrs. George Shank, of Redding township, died at his home in Tennessee August 8, aged about 70 years. He formerly lived near Reddingtown but went south several years ago.

BROWN.—John Brown, formerly a resident of Redding township died at Indianapolis, Friday, of heart trouble, aged about thirty-six years. He was the son of Mrs. Jane Brown and a brother of Al Brown, who live near Sulphur Springs. Mr. Brown had lived in Indianapolis several years and stayed in his brother's store there. The remains will be brought here this evening and in charge of the Knights of Pythias will be taken to his brother's home at Sulphur Springs. Funeral and burial Sunday.

Notice.

I, the undersigned, will receive proposals, until August 29th, 1904, for the sale of all or any part of the real estate belonging to the estate of Cyrus E. McCrady, bankrupt.

NEXT to Them.

THE DISTINCTIVE FEATURES of the "M" Waists and what makes them better than any others, are—

FIRST—That all strain is carried from the shoulders, and not from the neck and armholes as in other waists.

SECOND—Both the neck and arm-holes are finished with a durable and handsome edging, which will wear much better than the crocheted finish used on other waists.

THIRD—The Hunkins Patent Tubes for attaching Hose supporters, which with the "M" system of taping carries all strain of the stockings from the shoulders, make this feature absolute perfection.

FOURTH—The "M" Waist cost no more than inferior ones.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

George Rice Sues Standard Oil Company for $3,000,000.

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 20.—George Rice of Marietta, Ohio, has commenced suit in the United States circuit court for $3,000,000 damages against the Standard Oil company for the alleged ruining of his oil business by the defendant company. Rice charges that the Standard Oil company compelled railroads to charge his customers exorbitant freight rates; that the company opened grocery stores to break down his competition, and in other ways succeeded in taking away from him 4,000 customers, an oil refining plant worth $750,000, and a business worth $500,000 a year. This suit is brought under the interstate commerce act of 1890, and is similar in character to one entered in the court of chancery of New Jersey by Rice, in which he seeks to compel the revocation of the company's charter under the laws of New Jersey. While the damages claimed are $3,000,000, the actual amount is $1,000,000.

Motorman Shocked to Death.

Indianapolis, Aug. 20.—John Deal, a member of a construction crew on the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction company line, was instantly killed by electricity at Acton. The young man was in the motor car of the construction train and reached up to handle the circuit-breaking switch. He neglected to take his hand from the controller and when he touched the circuit-breaker a direct current was formed through his body. His death was instantaneous.

INDIANA'S GREAT DAY.

Immense Gathering Looked For at World's Fair, September 1st.

Present indications point to a record-breaking day at St. Louis, Thursday, September 1st, when the celebration of Indiana Day takes place at the World's Fair. The large number of Indiana people intending to be present at this great State function is shown by the advance requisitions for tickets to St. Louis the ensuing fortnight. The special low fares from Indiana to St. Louis over the Pennsylvania-Vandalia Lines has stimulated such interest that every provision is made or handling larger crowds of excursionists than at first expected.

Representatives of Indiana interests having exhibits in the Exposition, public officials and citizens generally who have already signified their intention of being at the greatest of all fairs on Indiana Day show that the next few days will see the heaviest movement from Indiana to St. Louis since the opening of the World's Fair. Governor Duff and his staff will leave Indianapolis for St. Louis Wednesday, August 31st, over the Vandalia Line. On the evening of the same day, the Newboys' Band of the Indianapolis News, consisting of about eight members, will also go over the Vandalia Line to St. Louis, the youngsters going to the World's Fair as the guests of the News.

W. W. RICHARDSON, Assistant General Passenger Agent of the Pennsylvania-Vandalia Lines, has received many inquiries at his office in Indianapolis from intending World's Fair visitors in the last week than at any time since the St. Louis Exposition was thrown open, which is taken as the most striking indication of the widespread interest manifested in the great celebration in honor of Indiana.

Special Low Home-Seekers Excursion

SERIOUS SHOWING

Criminal Statistics of Indiana Offer Plenty of Food For Reflection.

AN OFFICIAL QUESTION

There Is Something Radically Wrong In the Conditions Which Contribute to This Showing.

One Out of Every 215 Persons Under Some Sort of Charge During the Year.

Indiana Unionists Asked to Aid Chicago Strikers.

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 20.—Every union man in Lafayette will be notified at the next meeting of his union that an appeal has been made by the butchers and meat cutters of Chicago, who are now on strike, for cash contributions to assist in winning the fight against the packers. The appeal comes from the highest officials, and receives the sanction of the American Federation of Labor. There are about 2,000 union men this city, all of whom are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. It is judged from the call for assistance received by unionists here that the demand for contributions is general in character.

Caught at the Crossing.

Richmond, Ind., Aug. 20.—While returning last night from a dancing party at Cedar Springs hotel, five miles east of Richmond, Charles Sherer, aged thirty-two, John Moore, aged thirty-two, and Miss Mamie Hill, aged twenty-eight, all of Richmond, were killed and Berna Hill, aged twenty-five, also of Richmond, was badly injured in a grade crossing accident. The carriage in which they were driving was struck by a fast eastbound train on the Pennsylvania. The three victims of the accident were killed almost instantly. As it was raining it is supposed that the curtains were on the carriage, preventing the members of the party from seeing the approaching train.

Wreck of Pennsylvania Limited.

Richmond, Ind., Aug. 20.—Pennsylvania Limited from St. Louis to New York came into collision with the rear end of a freight train at the Sixth street crossing. Passengers were thrown from their seats by the force of the collision. The locomotive plowed its way through the cabooses of the freight train and lifted two other cars off the tracks, smashing them into kindling wood. The engine men stuck to their posts and escaped injury.

Leaped Too Soon.

North Vernon, Ind., Aug. 20.—A freight train on the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern railway broke in two on the grade near Oakdale, and the rear section overtaking the first, James Curran, fireman, fearing a general wreck, jumped from the engine. He was caught and crushed to death by the only car derailed.

Workman's Neck Broken.

Wabash, Ind., Aug. 20.—Hughie Bray, an employee of the Wabash paper mills, fell from a ladder while at work making repairs, and broke his neck, dying three hours after the fall. The ladder was imperfectly placed by him, and slipped while he was at work. Bray was forty-eight years old, and leaves a large family.

Death in the Sausage.

Hammond, Ind., Aug. 20.—One death with three members alarmingly ill is the result of ptomaine poisoning in the family of Oscar Borchert of the police force, this city. All of them ate heartily of sausage, and all were acutely prostrated. The youngest child died in convulsions. The coroner is investigating.

Murderous Saloon Keeper.

Logansport, Ind., Aug. 20.—John Denigan, a young man, was shot and killed here by Saloon Keeper John P. Davis. Davis intended the shot for Martin Patterson, a youth of this place, but missed his aim.

MAKING HIM LOOK PLEASANT.

It is an easy thing when we quote our prices on building lumber. A pleasant surprise always awaits the contractor and builder when he visits our yard after getting prices elsewhere and seeing the superior quality of high grade lumber, hard-wood trim flooring, lath, shingles and that we are selling at bed-rock prices. Our lumber is of high quality, well seasoned and beyond competition, price considered.
